(one author authorised to execute this warranty statement above and conflict of interest statement below on behalf of all the authors of the above article)

Please disclose any potential conflict of interest pertaining to your contribution or the Journal; or write 'NONE' to indicate you declare no such conflict of interest exists. A conflict of interest might exist if you have a competing interest (real or apparent) that could be considered or viewed as exerting an undue influence on you or your contribution. Examples could include financial, institutional or collaborative relationships. The Journal's editor(s) shall contact you if any disclosed conflict of interest may affect publication of your contribution in the Journal.

Potential conflict of interest .....

Notes for contributors (Open Access)

In consideration of payment of the Open Access fee specified by Cambridge University Press and APSIPA, the contribution will be published in the Journal within an Open Access environment, freely accessible to those who wish to browse, read, print, save, copy, display or further disseminate the contribution including the posting of the contribution on a free website or in an institutional repository, or to alter, transform or build up the contribution to create a derivative work, provided all such uses include an attribution of the contribution to its author with full details of its title and place of original publication including copyright line, and a link to the URL of Cambridge University Press's website for the journal of original publication. Cambridge University Press will license such uses under the following Creative Commons licence:

Attribution currently available at <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/3.0/>>.

If you choose an alternative Creative Commons licence (see order form), your article will be published under those terms:

Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/>> or
Attribution-NoDerivatives <<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nd/3.0/>>

The Author retains the right to re-use the paper or an adapted version of it in any volume of which they are editor or author, whether or not for commercial gain, and permission will automatically be given to the publisher of such a volume subject to normal acknowledgement.

For the absence of doubt, prohibited uses will include:

- » Reproduction of the contribution in a potentially defamatory context or any other context which may reasonably be deemed inappropriate to the reproduction of a scholarly article bearing the imprint of a respectable academic publisher.
- » Reproduction in any context which breaches the Author's right of paternity under the UK Copyrights Designs and Patents Act (1988).

Cambridge University Press will handle requests to re-use the contribution commercially. We shall use our best endeavours to ensure that any direct request we receive to reproduce your contribution, or a substantial part of it, commercially in another publication (which may be an electronic publication) is approved by you before permission is given.

Cambridge University Press co-operates in various licensing schemes that allow material to be photocopied within agreed restraints (e.g. the CCC in the USA and the CLA in the UK). Any proceeds received from such licenses, together with any proceeds from sales of subsidiary rights in the Journal, directly support its continuing publication.

If your contribution includes textual or illustrative material not in your copyright and not covered by fair use / fair dealing, permission must be obtained from the relevant copyright owner (usually the publisher or via the publisher) for the non-exclusive right to reproduce the material worldwide in all forms and media, including electronic publication within an Open Access environment. The relevant permission correspondence should be attached to this form.

The information provided on this form may be held in perpetuity for record purposes. The name(s) and address(es) of the author(s) of the contribution may be reproduced in the journal and provided to print and online indexing and abstracting services and bibliographic databases.

Please make a duplicate of this form for your own records
